

Band Day To Welcome Many Local, Outstate Performers

Students attending the Omaha University-Washburn football game Saturday have a treat in store for them. It will be Omaha University's fourth annual Band Day and University Band Director Robert Gaskill is promising elaborate ceremonies.

Bands from all local high schools will be on hand. For the first time, bands from outstate Nebraska and Iowa are invited. The outstate bands include Plattsmouth and Beemer from Nebraska and Shenandoah, Logan, Underwood, Tabor and Thomas Jefferson from Iowa. The University band will also perform. Over five hundred musicians are expected to attend the colorful event.

Omaha University bandsmen will act as guides for members of other bands. This year the University band is sponsoring a free meal for visiting bandsmen. It will be served before the ceremonies.

All bands will be introduced before the game. As each band receives its introduction, it will march past the West stands playing one strain of a march. The bands will all join and play the Star Spangled Banner.

During half-time the bands will play as a unit. The selections Saturday are Loyalty, Colonel Miners and Billboard. Bands will play individually throughout the game.

This Band Day is expected to be the best yet seen at Omaha University and should lend more than a fine atmosphere to the football game, according to Gaskill.

Freshmen Try Out

Many aspiring members of the Class of '58 were on hand yesterday afternoon for the first round of tryouts for the Freshmen Talent Show.

"We saw some terrific talent yesterday, and are expecting even more students to tryout this afternoon," said Dick Vernon, Student Council member.

Tryouts will be held in Rm. 386 from 3 to 5 p. m. Judges from the student council include Dick Vernon, Brad Pence and Donna Reynolds.

Dr. Edwin L. Clark, Robert D. Gaskill and Richard H. Brewer are the faculty judges.

Each student interested in trying out for the show must bring his own props, music and accompaniment for his act.

The talent show will be an all-school convocation in the auditorium, Wednesday, Oct. 6.

Game Tactics First of Series

University football coach Lloyd Cardwell will appear on the first Doors of Knowledge television program at 10 a. m. Oct. 9. The 30 minute show is designed to acquaint the public with football tactics.

"The split T," single wing formations and how coaches plan play sequences will be explained. Coach Cardwell will use films, pictures and actual studio demonstrations in his discussion.

First student director of the series to appear every third Saturday is Darrell Githens. He and assistant Donna Rasgorshek will work in conjunction with the advanced radio-TV problems class to prepare, time and prop the show.

Doors of Knowledge appears on station WOW-TV, Channel 6.

Chairman Announces Alumni Homecoming

Alumni Homecoming chairman Charles Annmons, class of '49, has begun plans for the annual Alumni Homecoming celebration.

For the first time a package ticket price, including tickets to the game and dance, will be offered.

The Alumni Homecoming Victory Dance will be in the Hotel Fontenelle Ballroom from 8 p. m. to 1 a. m., Oct. 23.

'54 Directory Now at Press

Robert S. McGranahan, head of the printing and information department, announced that the Student Directory is now being printed and should be ready for distribution Oct. 18. According to McGranahan, speed in delivery over last year's directory is due to several changes.

Adult education students will not be listed this year because of an apparent lack of student interest. Only a small number of night school students pick up their copy.

Lists of organization members will be eliminated. Only names of officers will be printed. Lack of repetition will make a more compact, readable edition, stated McGranahan.

Western Printing company was low bidder with an estimated $395.

Petitions Due For Elections

Candidates for Student Council and class offices must file their petitions in the Dean of Student Personnel office by noon Oct. 8. Seventeen persons will gain office in the all-school election Oct. 13. Student Council members will conduct voting in the west lounge from 9 a. m. to 3 p. m. on that date.

Ballots will be issued when the student indicates his grade and activity card. All students vote for Homecoming Princess. Freshmen will elect two boys and two girls to Student Council besides three class offices—president, vice-president and secretary-treasurer. Except for sophomores who will elect one girl to Student Council, other classes will elect only class officers.

Clark Selects 'The Heiress'

"The Heiress," a play based on the Henry James novel "Washington Square," will be the first stage production of the University of Omaha Department of Speech this year. It is scheduled for two performances, Nov. 12 and 13.

According to Dr. Edwin L. Clark, director, auditions will be held as soon as the play books arrive. Interested stage crew technicians and players should watch first floor bulletins for audition dates.

"The Heiress" is the first of three productions scheduled this year. A musical comedy will be presented Feb. 10 through 12, and a spring play is planned Mar. 24 and 25.

Students Win Scholarships

In addition to the eight students awarded University Honor Scholarships ($200) published in last week's Gateway, seven others have been named.

Others are Jean Miller, Marilyn Myers, Beverly Pace, Margaret Roberts, Tom Romberg, Kay Talty and Hannah Wells.

University Tuition Grants were awarded to William Butler, Robert Simpson, Stanley Schaetzle, John Motzkua, Neal Thomsen and Dona Wells.

Other grants and awards are from the Building Owners and Managers Association of Omaha ($25) to Ernest Swanson, the Omaha Education Committee of NAM ($150) to Neal Thomsen, the Panhellenic Association ($100) to Patricia Sweny, the Sher Essay Award ($250) to Susan Bivin and the Ray R. U.S. Senator To Appear Wednesday at Institute

First speaker for the third annual World Affairs Institute will be U. S. Senator William F. Knowland. The Republican majority leader will speak on "Paradox of Coexistence" at 8:15 p. m. Wednesday in the University Auditorium.

Senator Knowland... Institute speaker.

Activity cards will admit the student and a guest. Tickets for the series providing family membership at five dollars are available at the University.

"Since Senator Knowland is Republican majority leader and is one of the major critics of the administration's foreign policy," commented William T. Utley, head of the department of history and government and director of the Institute, "he is in a key position to influence the Senate's views on this policy. We feel that the Senator's views on the new tack of coexistence will be of great interest to the people of Omaha."

Top Candidate in '52

Knowland has been in the U. S. Senate since 1945 when he was appointed to succeed the late Senator Hiram W. Johnson of California. Governor Earl Warren notified him of his appointment while he was in the army. The California senator has formerly been Republican National Committee Chairman.

Support of both major parties and the largest number of votes ever received by any public official in California put Knowland on his own six year term in 1952. He was unanimously elected majority leader in Aug., 1953. In the Eighty-third Congress, the Republican leader was on Senate Committees on Foreign Relations and Appropriations and chairman of Senate Republican Policy Committee during the first session. He was a member of the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy.

Active Republican Leader

Knowland has served in the California State Assembly two years and the State Senate four years. In 1938 he was named Republican National Committeeman for California. In 1940 he was selected and later named chairman to the Executive Committee.

Helen Herrick Knowland is the Senator's wife. The Knowlands have three children, Emelyn (Mrs. Harold Jewett, Jr.), 25; Joseph, 23, and Estelle, 16. Senator Knowland is assistant publisher of the Oakland (Calif.) Tribune.

Future speakers are Oct. 13—Dr. K. C. Wes, former governor of Formosa and leading Chinese Nationalist; Oct. 20—David Atlee Phillips, editor of the oldest English language newspaper in South America; Oct. 27—Norman Cousins, editor of the Saturday Review of Literature; Nov. 3—William Smyser, former career diplomat in the foreign service, now professor of political science, and Nov. 10—David Dollin, native-born Russian lecturer and writer.

KWOU Lists Audition Time

KWOU will begin auditions Oct. 4, according to Darrell Githens, program director. University of Omaha radio station tryouts will be from 9 to 11 a. m. and 2 to 3 p. m., Oct. 4 through 8 and all day Oct. 9 in Room 310, Studio A.

Githens issues a special plea for engineers to run tape recorders and phonograph record turntables. Other positions are newcast and commercial announcers, continuity writers and disc jockeys.

Githens and Bob Osborn, audition directors, stress that it is not important to have any experience or be upperclassmen. Persons will be trained on the job. Actual working time will be adjusted to fit the individual's class schedule and preference.

Prexy Party Idea Vetoed

The Student Council has vetoed two alternate plans proposed by the Prexy Party to replace Homecoming booths. At their meeting Tuesday, the Council voted thumbs down on one large cooperative display and individual displays to concentrate efforts on establishing tradition.

The short time until Homecoming, Oct. 23, gave reason to divert interest from the usual booth competition to group projects. In other years the University has paid the $300 for booth construction (approximately $50 per booth), but this year funds were not available.

Senior Council representatives Donna Reynolds and Jim Erxson will direct sorority, fraternity and independent student efforts in their group's project. Groups may submit their own ideas or may consider those suggested by the Council.

Council suggestions are 50 posters plugging Homecoming game, dance and inviting alums; decorated stadium boxes; construction of an entrance for football players; decorated gates and ballroom entrance at Peony Park; and a permanent "Welcome Alums" sign for the East side of the football field.

Homecoming planning committee members are Lew Radcliffe, parade and rally; Donna Reynolds, dance; Joe Hanna, flowers and gifts and Rae Johnson, publicity. Jean Harrington and Brad Pence will arrange half-time ceremony of the OU-St. Ambrose game Oct. 23.

OU Financial Gain Cuts Library Debts

Omaha University Regents were told last Thursday that the University had a surplus of $152,664.43 for the year ending Aug. 31.

Vice-President Charles Hoff reported the University took in $1,471,762.65 during the year and spent or allocated $1,319,098.22.

These transactions are in addition to operations of four revolving funds.

Taxes and most other revenue sources yielded more than was predicted. However, expenses were less.

Regents voted to add 40 thousand dollars of the tax surplus to new tax money for the present year, which began Sept. 1.

President Milo Bail said the remaining $112,664.43 gain in revenue over expenditures would be needed because of this year's unexpectedly high enrollment. Day enrollment is 20 percent ahead of last year.

Dr. Bail said, "You can't have increased enrollments without increased costs."

He also cited the need for extra faculty, laboratory equipment and at least two hundred tablet arm chairs.

The rest of the money will mean that the University will be able to finish paying for the new library building by the time it is completed, according to Hoff.

Without the extra money, Hoff feared some contractors might have had to wait six months after completing their jobs before they would receive their final payments.

Plan Use of Films To Orient Students In Library Work

"We hope to have orientation meetings for incoming students showing services and usage of the new library," futurized Miss Ellen Lord, head librarian at the University.

Miss Lord said instruction, other than regular library science courses, is being offered in freshman education, English and business.

No More Call-Slips

Still looking into the future, Miss Lord said she hopes to have moving pictures to help students use the new library more efficiently. Stacks will be open so students won't have to make call-slips for each book they want. The new library will have enough space to give lectures and tours to newcomers.

Work Inside in Winter

"If we don't make our own movies," said Miss Lord, "film strips are being offered at college level for library use." She stressed that the film-idea is just in the thinking state and is not definite.

Unofficially, the two weeks time lost due to rains have been made up. The contractors hope to have a brick shell completed so builders can work on the inside during winter months, according to the Office of General Printing and Information.

Espinosa Talks At Coffee Hour

Omaha University faculty members met yesterday in the faculty clubroom for the President's Coffee Hour.

This was the first of a series of get-togethers in which the faculty is invited to report on recent travels, conventions or other vacation experiences. Dr. Christopher Espinosa, chairman of the Department of Foreign Languages and Literature, spoke on his summer's trip to Mexico.

Meet the Faculty Student Enthusiasm Impresses Professor

Miss Marillyn Nass, new women's physical education instructor, has been on OU campus before. But the first time it was at Ohio University.

A native of Cleveland, Miss Nass attended the Athens, Ohio, school receiving her bachelor's degree in education at the June, 1953 commencement.

Fifty in Class

At Ohio U she taught a tap dance class of fifty. "There were coed dance classes there," she said, "and I had 49 girls and one boy. Everybody seemed to get along fine," she said with a twinkle in her eye.

After she graduated from Ohio U, Miss Nass spent the summer as a counselor at Camp Robinhood, Green Lake, W. She had a variety of jobs including fishing counselor, gardening counselor and running the canteen. "Running the canteen was the best job," she said. "At first I had to bait the children's hooks, but after a week they did it for themselves or it wasn't done," she continued.

Penn State Student

At the close of camp Miss Nass enrolled at Pennsylvania State University for graduate work. Along with her studies she taught first and second year physical education classes as a graduate assistant.

Now at the University of Omaha, Miss Nass is very pleased with her classes and feels that the students show a greater amount of enthusiasm than on the other two campuses.

'Mutt, Jeff' Play In Marching Band

The long and short of it as far as the band goes is Rodney Murray and Arnie Epstein.

Murray, a trombone player, stands 6'4" while Clarinetist Epstein is a mere five feet. Both students are part of the 35-piece University Marching Band.

The all-male band is mainly interested right now in working up an intricate drill pattern according to Robert Gaskill, band director. "We plan to stay in the stands tomorrow at Band Day, but after that we'll put on a show at all but the Homecoming game."

Another feature of the band this year is six majorettes to offset the male band members. The six girls will wear reversible red and black skirts with white sweaters.

Hoff To Hold Dinner For Campus Officers

Presidents and treasurers of all campus organizations are invited to a picnic-supper at the home of Charles Hoff, vice-president for business management, Oct. 8, from 5:30 to 7:30 p. m.

Hoff, who is co-sponsoring the event with Dean of Students Jay B. MacGregor, says the purpose of the gathering is "to impress on treasurers the importance of their job and to furnish them with information and tools for keeping adequate records."

Senior Coed Takes Exams

Women are usually thought of as an object found in the home. But Sharon Erdkamp, 20 year old senior, is preparing for "either a career in teaching on the college level or government service."

Right now the Liberal Arts student is taking a double major in government and economics. Her extra curricular activities center mostly around debate. A debater since her freshman days, Sharon was one of two girls who debated against a two man team from visiting Oxford University in England last fall.

Desk Clerk

This summer she took a job as a desk clerk at George Williams College Camp at Lake Geneva, Wis. The camp, run by the college and connected with both the YMCA and YWCA, caters mostly to student groups like the Hi Y, Rainbows, single men and women over 18 years old and families. Sharon spent three months at the camp and then went to St. Paul, Minn., to take exams for foreign service.

Stiff Exams

Recalling the examinations, Sharon said that they were very difficult. "I remember one in particular," she said. "As part of the English exam, we had to write a letter. The letter was supposed to be sent to an American business man from the Embassy," she continued. "We were supposed to tell him that the speech he was going to give at a town meeting was unsatisfactory. This all had to be done very diplomatically and I thought it was impossible," she concluded.

OU Romps 45-0; 27 Men Perform

Migration Day travelers from the Dodge Street campus saw their team roll over Morningside 45-0 last Saturday night. The victory at Sioux City was the first time during Cardwell's eight-year stay at OU that an Indian team had beaten Morningside on the Ma-roon's home ground.

OU started scoring six minutes after the starting gun when Jerry Tannahill scored on a 42-yard pass from Bill Engelhardt. The Indians tallied again that period with a four yard end sweep by Englehardt.

The most sensational of the seven scores was the fifth—Bill Engelhardt handed off to Bill Steck, then faced 46 yards to snag Steck's pass.

The Indians third tally was a 52-yard punt return by Emil Radik, the fourth a seven-yard Englehardt-to-Rotella pass. Radik again hit pay dirt for the sixth touchdown, scoring on a one-yard plunge. Pete Rigatuso netted number seven with a three yard drive.

Blocking back Arnold Smith and ends John Welch and Howard Baker, all nursing injuries, were the only Cardwell men not to see action in the Morningside romp.

It was the second grid win of the season for the Indian eleven, the first being a 27-19 victory over Kansas Teachers.

Pettit Calls For Referees

Intramural Supervisor Ralph Pettit has issued a call asking for men to act as officials in the intramural program. Men interested in officiating football games should contact Ralph Pettit or Ernie Gorr as soon as possible.

Pettit announced that a man will not be eligible for intramural competition until he has passed the physical examination given by the Student Health Department. A health rating of A or B is required.

Pettit stated that as soon as managers are selected and teams organized the intramural program will get under way.

All teams will be given a week's practice before any league games

Indians Make Home Debut Against Kansans Tomorrow

Revenge will be in the minds of the Omaha University footballers tomorrow afternoon when they take to the field for their home debut against Washburn U.

Last season the Ichabods handed the Indians a 14-6 defeat on the Kansans field. Several Omaha fumbles proved to be the deciding factor of the nip and tuck battle.

With the ball only one yard from pay dirt the Indians humbled, only to have Washburn recover. The Kansans then marched to the midfield strip where they were forced into a fourth down punt formation.

But, instead of punting, the Washburn back scooted his right end for the score. Washburn cinched the game in the closing minutes when they plowed over from one yard out.

Bill Engelhardt got the lone Indian tally on a twenty-four yard sprint in the second half.

Ichabods Experienced

End coach Ernie Gorr scouted the Ichabods 13-10 season opener against Colorado Mines. Gorr reported that the Kansans used a modified T formation, similar to that used by Fort Hays. Gorr also stated that the Ichabods had plenty of experience in every position.

Gorr sited Jim Gates a 119 lb. halfback as the back for the Indians to watch. On the line Gorr singled out John Gaston as a strong defensive end.

Coach Cardwell stated that if there are no injuries by game time tomorrow, he will send the same line against the Ichabods that he has used in the last two encounters.

Possible Changes

Only possible changes in the Indian line up may come in the backfield. Because of their fine performance against Morningside last week Pete Rigatuso and Emil Radik may crack the starting line up.

Coach Cardwell had special praise for Rigatuso who turned in several nice gains against the Iowans. "All of the boys did a swell job," Cardy stated.

Those in need of transportation should contact Dick Browning. Sponsors are Mr. and Mrs. Tom Brock, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Kurtz and Tom Townsend.
